

Georgia Journalism Academy 2004

The 2004 Georgia Journalism Academy brought out 53 high school journalism students from across the state and even as far away as Michigan to the University of Georgia campus for one week last summer. Academy participants learned from University faculty and professionals in the newspaper, photography and broadcast fields in daily classes held at the Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication. After a week of hard work (and a lot of fun!), The Watchdog (the Academy magazine) and the Academy broadcast news show were created. The 16-page print publication and the broadcast news show were written, designed, photographed, edited, taped and anchored by Academy participants. The 2005 Georgia Journalism Academy is scheduled for June 5-11 on the University of Georgia campus.
